

Results-Oriented Family Engagement

Presented by: Dr. Steve Constantino

Hello,

As part of an ongoing effort to develop stronger family engagement outcomes across Wisconsin, WSPEI wants to make you aware of a unique experience for Wisconsin educators kicking off this fall with best-selling author and internationally recognized family engagement expert Dr. Steve Constantino.

District teams and/or individuals will explore the tools and processes, including technology, that can be used to collect information on present conditions and specific practices to enhance current efforts in family engagement. Teams will then design a process of active outreach to increase the engagement of families with attention focused on those families that are traditionally disengaged or unreached.

Whether your team has engaged with Dr. Constantino before, or is thinking of doing so for the first time, this cohort-based professional learning experience has the potential to help you rethink family engagement in your schools.

This cohort experience meets monthly for 90-minute sessions beginning in October 2022 and ending in May of 2023. A summit will also be held in June of 2023, with dates and times still to be determined.

To learn more please review the Wisconsin Leadership Cohort's Results-Oriented Family Engagement webpage. Registration deadline is October 1, 2022.
